University Center To Finally Open

The new University Center is impressive. It has already been compared to a mall, a palace, and various other huge, expensive buildings. After the thrill of the building's opening wears off, we may find that it is too impressive.

It is so impressive that it has already been suggested as the solution to the problems of unorganized student organizations and the lack of space for them, as well as the problems of student apathy, food service lines, student recreation, and many more. We seem to have forgotten that this building is merely a facility, no matter how well equipped and spacious it is. Unorganized student organizations can be just as unorganized in a new office as they can in a cramped corner of Tawes Gym. Students can be just as apathetic while lounging in plush furniture on hardwood floors as they can while sitting on old furniture in the old College Center.

The Snack Bar will have to make sure the quality of their service and products increases in their new setting, or students will gain nothing but a pretty room in which to eat. In fact, all students and others who will use the new Center must strive to increase the quality of their organizations and individual contributions, or the University Center will be an $11 million dollar "pretty setting" for the same apathy and disorganization that now dominates the Salisbury State Student Body.

In closing, we are all in debt to David Ganoe for his work in organizing the University Center project. David Ganoe was and is responsible for ordering equipment, organizing the move, and making sure that all offices and groups that will be housed in the University Center have the necessary room and equipment to function. He has always been receptive to the needs of the Flyer and other organizations I have dealt with. When you're wandering through the new University Center, stop by the University Center Office (2nd Floor) and thank David Ganoe for his time and hard work.

Campus
Communists
Enraged

Dear Editor:

I must take exception to Ms. Young's article in your most recent issue. By comparing Democrats to Communists Ms. Young has committed a blatant travesty against the world's most popular party. My comrades and I were deeply enraged to think that we could be, in any way, shape, or form, compared to a greedy Capitalist group such as your American Democratic Party.

Ms. Young asserts that her Republican Party is "the best party" while all people of the world know--as do my comrades and I--that all Americans, whether Republican or Democrat, are a war mongering people attempting to impose their Capitalist views on the true free people of the world. Lest anyone doubt my accusations, just look at recent events.

The United States has recently deployed military troops to both Honduras and Panama in an attempt to back insurgent rebels who are in opposition to the governments in power in Nicaragua and Panama. In short, the Americans are aiding an attempted overthrow of the existing government, because that government refuses to be greedy Capitalist pigs. The only true effort towards world peace recently, has been Mr. Gorbachev's initiation of the plan to dismantle medium range nuclear warheads. But, no sooner had the agreement been signed than you "peace-loving" President has put into action a plan which will deploy new medium range warheads on nuclear powered submarines patrolling Eastern Hemisphere waters. This he no doubt intends to hold as a trump card--as he did Star Wars--in the upcoming Moscow summit. These do not appear to be the actions of a peace loving man. Perhaps in the future you money-hungry Capitalists will take a hint from my comrades and I (members of the best party in the world) and work together as a unified state.

Yours in brotherhood,
Steve (Igor) Jennings

Republican Club On The Move

An important note to remember is on Monday, April 25, at 9:00 P.M. Charuthers 102. The chairperson of The Women's Republican Club, Ann Sutlowski, will speak on the importance of party unity and the influence of National Committees upon campaigns.

A reminder to students that the Salisbury State College Republican Club is in the process of assembling a student directory, complete with addresses and phone numbers, for the fall of next year. Your cooperation in this project is greatly appreciated, so please do not throw out the forms you will receive in your mailbox. If you have any questions please call Carey at 543-0017 or attend the regularly scheduled meeting on Monday nights at 9:00 P.M.

In IRAQ, the mutilated bodies of children were returned to their parents for a sum of money upon receipt of the bodies. This is just one example of what governments do to children. Human rights are not exclusive to adults. Please help stop this abuse to children and students. Contact the Annapolis Amnesty International Group. Don't let this injustice continue. Call Tracey Stewart at 301-263-0254 or Robby Roberts at 301-267-7179.

Nursing

Program Planning begins Monday, April 18, for all Nursing and Pre-Nursing majors. All advisors will post a schedule of appointments on their office doors in the Hall Education Center, located on the corner of Locust Street and Waverly Drive. Please sign up for an appointment, there will be a sheet outside each faculty advisor's door with dates and times.

Crosswalk

A cross walk has been painted from the sidewalk at the rear of Devilbiss Hall, south through the Devilbiss parking lot to the walkway leading to the New College Center.

Maryland State motor vehicle law requires that vehicles yield to pedestrians in a crosswalk. Use extreme caution in these areas and watch for pedestrians.

Senior Art Show

The 1988 Salisbury State College Senior Art Show will open the evening of April 30th from 7:00 until 9:00 p.m. in the College Gallery located on the second floor of Blackwell Library. Everyone is invited and admission is free.

This year the works of thirteen seniors will be included. They are Douglas A. McLaren, Donna Forgash, Sharon Gribbin-Linemon, Jillian Olson, all of Salisbury, Mike James, Cambridge, MD.; Paul Fleming, Rockville, MD.; Sandra Ann Stitely, Laurel, MD.; Michael Nees, Flemington, N.J.; Benjamin C. Nall, Fulton, MD.; Kim Farot, Pasadena, MD.; Leigh Ellen Rudder, Berlin, MD.; Michael Gregory Holl, Bowie, MD.; and Jodi Yingling, Rehoboth Beach, DE. The show will run through May 19th.

Parking Problems

There are three areas on Campus that have particular parking problems. Illegally parked cars are interfering with vehicular traffic in these areas:

1. The loading dock behind Holloway Hall.
 2. The yellow curb in front of Maggs Gym and the circular driveway.
 3. Yellow curbs in the Caruthers Lot-when the lot is full use the Dogwood Lot which has ample spaces.
- Public Safety will begin stricter enforcement of the parking regulations in these three areas. Please, do not park your vehicles illegally in these areas. Tickets will be issued to violators.

Bike Tour

The Eastern Shore Office of the national Multiple Sclerosis Society is preparing for their Second Annual MS 150K Bike Tour, May 14 and 15. Cyclers will ride from Ocean City, MD, to Shad Landing State Park, on Saturday and back to Ocean City on Sunday.

All cyclists will be welcomed back with a wrap up party on the deck of O.C. Sneakers, hosted by WQHQ Radio.

For more information call the BIKE TOUR HOTLINE at (301) 543-0007.

Student Teachers

Students who are eligible to student teach in the Fall Semester, 1988, should follow the steps listed:

1. Contact advisor to determine eligibility, competency tests, professional program application completed, G.P.A.
2. Attend one of the meetings scheduled during the second week of classes in April.

Since no other meetings will be held, students must attend a scheduled meeting in order to receive an application for student teaching. Questions about the application process should be directed to Mr. Alvah Constantine, Director of Field Experiences, Caruthers Hall, Rm B-153.

University Center Opens

by Jamie Hinely, Ed. in Chief

On Friday, March 25, Salisbury State College accepted its new University Center. The 11 million dollar project was delayed because of noisy heating and air-conditioning units. The units supposedly sounded like airplanes taking off in some second floor offices. Money has been placed in escrow in order to make the units more quiet.

The units had been set directly on concrete pads which sat on the buildings roof. When the units are turned on, they vibrate. The concrete pads transferred that vibration to the roof and the second floor. A sort of shock absorber will be placed between the heating and air-conditioning units and the concrete pads in order to absorb the vibrations.

The University Center finally opens and was definately well worth the wait.

According to the Director of the College Center, Mr. David Ganoe, the "punchlist" (a list of small repairs that need to be made, such as chipped floor tiles and paint) was originally fifty pages long, but has been reduced significantly.

Currently, the building is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday for students to "see what's here," Ganoe encourages students to walk around inside the new University Center. Ganoe predicts that the game room will be open by the time this article is published. The Book Store is planned to be open by April eighteenth, and the Snack Bar by the twenty-second. Student groups will be moving into the building throughout the next few weeks, and the center's meeting rooms will be open by the month's end.

Task Force

by Susan Harris, Staff Writer

...Approximately two years ago, Jeanne Clery was brutally raped, tortured and murdered during a robbery in her dorm room at Lehigh University. It appeared that her murderer was unknown to Jeanne, but did work on the campus. A year later he was given the death penalty in April of 1987....

This true story may be written one day about a student at Salisbury as well. A violent society surrounds us. Every minute someone is robbed, every six minutes a woman is raped, and every 28 minutes someone is murdered. This crime rate is evident in college campuses across the country and state, and is beginning to rise. Because of the increasing awareness of this problem, Salisbury State has begun a Risk Management Task Force.

The task force was set up this semester "to support an environment where students, staff and visitors can be safe from physical abuse and secure from mental anguish." On top of the list is personal safety: assault and battery, sexual assault and rape. But the Task Force is not only concerned with protecting the student body from violence but from other factors as well, such as sexual communication problems: (Acquaintance rape, STD's and AIDS), Suicide, Theft, Abuse of Drugs/Alcohol and fire hazards.

At the present time though, the Task Force is looking into how to keep the dorms on campus secure while still being able to have easy access through the proper channels.

The administration has previously decided that next semester every dorm except St. Martin's and Chesapeake will have its doors locked for 24 hours a day. The doors will also have a 30 second delay alarm installed. These alarms will allow traffic to flow through the doors but will sound an alarm if they are opened for more than 30 seconds. This is to prevent the doors from being propped open, and to prevent anyone from entering the dorm. These alarms have already been installed in the back entrances of Nanticoke and Manokin Halls. The rest of the alarms need to be manufactured this summer and will be in by the Fall semester.

This fact leads to where the Task Force comes in. It is understandable that the reason why residents prop the doors is that their friends and food deliverers do not have a key to get into the dorm. If there was a solution that guaranteed the residents that their guests would be able to come in, then they would not have to leave the doors ajar. Fortunately, there is a solution the problem is which one.

It has been suggested for each dorm to have a card reader. Each reader would be installed at the main entrance of the residence hall, allowing any student with an ID card to have access to any of the buildings during the day or evening. After a certain hour, only cards belonging to residents would unlock the main entrance. The residents of each dorm would receive an exterior key as well so they can use the most convenient door.

The second suggestion is to use a telephone/intercom system. It has not been decided which one will be used because the college has not yet decided whether or not to use the on-campus phone service. Either way, this system would allow visitors to call on the main phone or intercom up to the room they would like to have access to. The resident would then come down and meet the visitor at the door to let him in.

The system that will be used is up to the student body, since it will affect them. The Student Senate has offered to provide a forum for information, suggestions and inquiry. Task Force members will be present at the April 14 meeting in Caruthers Hall at 3:30 p.m. to provide an update and to gather opinions and input from organizational representatives and other interested persons.

Though representatives from hall councils and student activities will be attending, it is important that as many students as possible are there as well. The outcome of this meeting will effect the quality of the Student body's life next year whether they are living on campus or not.

If there are any questions contact the Housing Department or any of the Task Force members: Susan Harris (student), Barry King (Housing), Bob Lovely (Housing), Rob Moon (student), Jim Phillips (Public Safety), George Rakis (student), Dawn Williams (Area Director Dogwood) or Carol Williamson (Dean of Students).

Choptank News

by Dana Alexander, Contributor

The most notorious dormitory on campus, Choptank Hall, is gearing up for a good semester. The parties and activities in the building have begun post Spring Break '88.

Activities in the building include two on-going programs: a ping-pong tournament and the 4th floor lounge mural contest. Coming up on April 10th is the Twin Towers Olympics which consists of a pie throwing contest and waterballoon volleyball. Previous programs in Choptank were The Roommate Game, a volleyball team for intramural competition and a study group session.

The current news in Choptank Hall is that two R.A.'s Kat Prucnoil and Tyrone Payne, will be moving to the St. Martin/Chesapeake staff.

In conclusion, Debbie DiNoto, the Towers' Area Director, will be moving to Dogwood Village for the Fall 1988 semester.

College Politics

By Carey Young and Jamie Hinely,
Editor in chief

Two political groups have formed on the campus of Salisbury State College. The first group to form, the Young Democrats, was announced with a letter to the editor in the Feb. 24 issue of the Flyer. The organization held two organizational meetings, the first of which featured Joe Ginter, the president of the Young Democrats of Maryland, and Chris Cooke, the expansion leader of Maryland's Young Democrats. Recently, the Young Democrats of SSC elected officers, and ratified their constitution. They are currently waiting for funding from the Appropriations Board.

The aforementioned letter to the editor also challenged campus Republicans to form their own campus group. The challenge was accepted and the college republicans held an organizational meeting on Tuesday, March 15 at 6:45 pm in the College Center Chesapeake room.

The College Republican Club is a national organization, serving as a training ground for future Republican leaders. It provides successful and responsible young people with opportunities to demonstrate their leadership potential through political activism.

The purposes of the club are: 1) To make known and promote the principles of the Republican Party among the students. 2) To aid in the election of Republican candidates at all levels of government. 3) To recruit Salisbury State students as members of the club and as members of the Republican Party. 4) To develop political skills and leadership abilities among republican students as preparation for future service by them to the party and the community.

Many guest speakers are planned, as well as trips to Washington, D.C. and Annapolis, along with some social activities.

For information on the College Republicans, call Carey Young at 543-0017.

Newman Club

by Catherine Coundjeris, Contributor

Initiated in 1893 by Timothy L. Harrington, medical student at the University of Pennsylvania, the Newman Club strives to fulfill the educational, religious, and social needs of its members. Named in memory of Cardinal John Henry Newman, Harrington's society concurred with many of the principles espoused by its namesake. Newman, a man of letters and an exceptional leader of the Church of England, converted to Catholicism on October 9, 1845 after effectively leading the Oxford Movement which emphasized the Roman Catholic elements in the English religious traditions.

George N. Shuster asserts in the introduction to Cardinal Newman's The Idea of a University, "...the purpose of 'liberal education'... is neither to inculcate virtue or to prepare for a vocation, but rather to train the mind; that the values served by such mental training are not absolute but are non the less good in themselves..." This philosophy left its indelible mark upon the Newman Club of today.

Originally, any recognition of the role of secular colleges in Catholic education was viewed as a threat to the welfare of the Catholic universities. Only such reasons as financial necessity, proximity to home, and availability of courses not offered in Catholic colleges excused those not attending a Catholic university. Therefore, the Newman Club began as strictly a lay organization. A chaplain appointed by the bishop served only in a casual position.

In the early twentieth century new feelings toward the Club started. Full-time chaplains began to become an ordinary occurrence at secular colleges. Henry C. Hengell appointed as chaplain to Wisconsin in Madison expressed his enthusiasm with the university professors who accepted him as the Catholic chaplain of the university rather than limited to the Newman Club.

The Newman Club at this point in history was understood as a "supplement to secular education offered at the university." however, in 1962 the National Catholic Educational Association recognized the importance of the Newman Club. They joined its membership and viewed the Newman Apostolate or those who serve as chaplains to the Newman Clubs as an extension of Catholic higher education.

In the spirit of the original Newman Club and those who paved the way for us, the branch of Salisbury State would like to welcome new members. What is the Newman Club? The answer is simple; it is a community of people bound by the quest for knowledge, spiritual well-being and comradeship.

Crime Beat

by Joanne McCartney, Staff Writer and Jim Phillips, Director of Public Safety

The following are events which SSC Campus Police investigated during the period of March 14 through March 23. The report of these events are not intended to alarm SSC students, but are intended to make students more aware of the crime that occurs on campus.

3/14, 3:14 p.m.-- Theft-coat and contents stolen from photography room in Holloway Hall. Value-$160.

3/15, 9:58 p.m.-- Possession of suspected marijuana and bong in a residence hall room. Administrative hearing was held.

3/18, 12:16 p.m.-- False fire alarm- fire alarm activated on the first floor south end of Chester.

3/19, 5:54 p.m.- Theft-bicycle stolen from rack in front of library. Value-$200.

3/19, 10:05 p.m.--Four non-students involved in an assault and battery and disorderly conduct near St. Martin's. The four were ordered off campus and sent no-trespass letters.

3/20, 2:12 a.m.-- False fire alarm- fire alarm activated on first floor north end of Choptank.

3/21, 8:23 p.m.-- Possession of stolen property-- street and business signs found in two residence rooms during room inspection. Two students face criminal charges for theft.

3/23, 12:06 p.m.-- Hit and Run-unknown vehicle struck a Mercury Monarch in St. Martin's lot.

Some of the crimes reported in this column could have been prevented. The following are tips which students should follow to prevent bike thefts:

1. The first and most important thing to do is lock your bicycle. The proper lock must be used, such as a lock that is not easily cut by bolt cutters. Locks such as the Citadel and Kryptonite bicycle locks are very effective.

Public Safety sells the Citadel lock at cost or rents them at $5 per semester. The rental fee can be deducted from the cost of the lock if the student wishes to purchase it. Public Safety has sold and rented its current stock of locks, but more have been ordered.

2. Bicycles should be registered with Public Safety. This service is free and makes it easier for a bicycle to be recovered when stolen.

3. Lock bicycles in the bike racks located around campus or in one of the bike barns on campus. The bike barns have a roof for some protection from the elements and they are fenced for added security. Public Safety locks the bike barns from dusk to dawn to secure them at dark. If a student needs access to one of the bike barns when they are locked, call Public Safety at 548-6222 for assistance.

Dining Hall Changes

Meal Changes

On Saturday, April 16, the Ruth Powell Dining Hall will be closed during the regular scheduled brunch and dinner meals due to hosting the Salisbury State College Foundation's annual Spring Gala. Meals will take place at the following times and locations:

BRUNCH- College Center, 11-1 p.m.
Meal to include steak and eggs.

DINNER- Tawes Gym, 4:30-6 p.m.
Meal to include ribs, chicken tenders, and hot dogs. A band will be featured.

Change in Meal Hours

The Snack Bar will be closed April 18-22 in order to make its transition into the new University Center. During the Snack Bar's week long hiatus the Ruth Powell Dining Hall will extend its meal hours to accommodate Snack Bar patrons.

These changes are only applicable during April 18-22.

Bill Kent Demands Changes

by Joann McCartney, Staff Writer

Through the course of the past semester, Bill Kent, a mobility impaired student and president of PROUD (Progressive Reaching Out Towards Understanding Disabilities), has filed complaints concerning handicapped discrimination with the U.S. Department of Education and the Salisbury State Grievance Board.

The complaint, which was filed with the Department of Education Office of Civil Rights, specifically concerned violations of handicapped accessibility.

Bill Kent, President of PROUD.

The office determined that it had jurisdiction, under the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Section 504 and the Supreme Court Grove City versus Bell decision, to investigate those areas of the campus which received federal funding. The Office of Veterans Assistance, (which was previously in Tawes Gymnasium but was moved to Holloway Hall after the investigation),

Special Assistant to President Bellavance, Dr. Robert M. Sperry has been made the College Section 504 Coordinator. He stated that, "most of the changes have been made, other changes which we were not obligated to make are being made."

Bill Kent said that he is "very satisfied with the outcome of the original complaint." He told The Flyer that the Department of Education is returning to SSC to continue its investigation in 120 days, due to the Restoration Act of 1988 which was recently passed by Congress in reaction to the Grove City versus Bell Supreme Court ruling. This new law restores the right to investigate the entire college campus if any federal funding is here to both the Department of Education and the Department of Health and Human Services. This law, which became effective March 22, according to Kent, created a federal court order telling the Department of Education to return to the college to investigate the other 26 complaints which Kent filed in 120 days. Only two of the original 28 complaints had been investigated by Stover because the Grove City decision and previously only allowed investigation in the buildings where federally funded offices were held.

Sperry stated that both buildings which the Office of Civil Rights investigated "are slated for renovation and these changes are only temporary."

"I think that the administration is doing quite a bit now. I can no longer say that the administration is falling down and doing nothing. I'm just sorry it was a result of the investigation. I hope they will be more receptive to our complaints," Kent stated. "I don't want to work against the administration, I want to work with them. But they have to work with me, too," Kent added.

Kent also filed a grievance with the Changes which we are not obligated to make are being made and the Financial Aid Office, in Holloway Hall, were investigated as both offices receive federal funds.

Federal investigator Judith Stover from the Office of Civil Rights used standards from ANSI (American National Standards Institute) to check the two buildings in question and the surrounding areas outside (parking lots and sidewalks). Stover then submitted a list of changes to SSC concerning the school violations which must be complied to by September 30, 1988.

Affirmative Action Officer and College Grievance Board, which reports its decisions to Dr. Bellavance. This grievance was a specific complaint about the lack of transportation for handicapped students and the lack of proper heat. The transportation problem was concerned with the lack of a van or bus to transport mobility disabled students and the heating problem dealt with the fact the mobility disabled students are not active, and therefore are more susceptible and vulnerable to the cold. These disabled students are limited to first floor residence hall rooms, where doors to the outside are constantly being opened and closed. The first floor is regulated the same as the other floors on the heating system, and Kent was concerned that the rooms were not warm enough for mobility disabled students.

The Grievance Board ruled in favor of Kent and will take its decision to Dr. Bellavance. Kent commented, "I have all confidence in Dr. Bellavance that now that the problem has been brought to his attention by the Grievance Board it will be corrected."

The transportation problem has already been temporarily solved with the use of a loaner van from the Holly Center. This van will continue to be used until a permanent decision is made concerning the actual need for the van.

PROUD has already brought changes to the college concerning mobility disabled students. An observatory platform for the handicapped has been installed at the Seagull Stadium and a concrete pad has been poured behind St. Martin's Hall for reserved handicapped parking.

There are 26 registered handicapped students on campus, according to Sperry. Of these, seven would be called mobility impaired. In 1981, SSC received an award from the state of Maryland for being the most handicapped accessible state school. Sperry added, "Since then approximately $175,000 to $180,000 has been spent on handicapped accessibility."

The Flyer Newsmagazine will hold its next meeting on Tuesday, April 19, at 9pm in The Flyer offices in Tawes Gymnasium. All are invited to attend.

Softball Enters Stretch

by Tony Blackburn, Sports Editor

The Salisbury State Softball team is off to an outstanding 14-3 record. They have competed in two tournaments, the Eastern Mennonite Tournament and, this past weekend, the Methodist Tournament in North Carolina. In the Methodist Tournament five SSC players received all tournament honors, including MVP Terri Sharpless. Sharpless, a junior pitcher who had a .45 ERA entering the tournament, was able to hold the opposition in check for the duration of the tournament. Other Seagulls on the All-Tournament team were outfielder and D.H. Anne Dacey, outfielder Diane Dickford, second basemen Karen Sipple, and shortstop Cathy Bryan.

The team's strong point thus far this season has been its total offensive domination combined with strong pitching. Through the season's first ten games the team averaged ten runs while allowing only one run per game. The Seagulls are led by the pitching of Terri Sharpless and freshman Amu Geppi, who has a 1.35 ERA.

This week the Gulls have three very important games. On Thursday the Gulls face Willington at 2:00, at home. Saturday the Gulls host Stockton at 1:00. Finally, the Gulls travel to Trenton to take on the number one team in the nation, Trenton State.

Entering the homestretch of the season Head Coach Dawn McCrumb says, "We still have our sights set on the playoffs. We feel this goal is very much within our reach."

Lacrosse Eyes Playoffs

By: Tony Blackburn, Sports Editor

After a 14-6 loss to Washington College the SSC Men's Lacrosse team's record fell to 6-3 and from number six in the nation to a still outstanding seven. The Seagulls, with three games remaining, have strong playoff aspirations. Head Coach Ron Roberts sees no reason why the team should not make the playoffs if they sweep those three games.

When asked about the three opponents Roberts said, "Two of the three teams have been in the top fifteen this season, and one still is. These are not going to be easy games."

At this point in the season Salisbury has been led by the strong play of defensemen Pete Rosokovich, goalie Dave Zlomkowski and attackman Tim Besquiest. They, along with the other senior members, have combined for a strong sense of leadership which has led to a good team attitude.

With a run for the playoffs on the not so distant horizon, Coach Roberts feels his team must "realize what their style is and go with that strength."

Washington Races By Salisbury

By Tony Blackburn, Sports Editor

On Saturday, April 9, the Salisbury Mens Lacrosse team, ranked seventh in the nation, traveled one and one-half hours north to Chestertown to take on a powerful Washington College squad, who held the nations number three ranking. The Seagulls could not handle Washington's aggressive style of play and ended up losing the contest by the score of 14-6.

Washington College, who has played national lacrosse powers North Carolina, John's Hopkins and Maryland, pushed the ball downfield time and time again, putting constant pressure on Salisbury's defense.

Salisbury Head Coach Ron Roberts said after the game, "We got out of our game plan early on and tried to run with them. They've got some really good athletes on their team and the running game is not our strong point."

Roberts sited as a prime example how, in the second quarter, the Seagulls were outscored 6-2. "We tried to run with them and we just couldn't," Roberts said. Robert's told of how the ability to play Division I powers helps. "Playing the better teams only helps to make you better. That is just a luxury we don't have here.

Roberts felt goalie Dave Zlomkowski played strong as did attack man Berquiest, who scored two goals. Also chipping in two goals for Salisbury was Buck Sharretts.

Slander Stormy Spring Break Activities

Alpha Omega, the Biology Club was one of the various campus organizations that left SSC for points South over Spring Break. Eighteen students spent the week camping in the Florida Keys, soaking up the sun and having fun.

The main memory the thirteen male students returned to Salisbury with was of "Stormy." The men in the group met Stormy, a model from Indiana, on the beach. Stormy's blonde hair, tan body, and small white bikini left quite an impression on them. Throughout the week the guys vied for Stormy's attention. Each guy tried to think of something creative to get Stormy's attention. Some guys went so "ape" and soaking in the hot tubs. The girls, they tried the "jungle look" in the mangroves; others tried flexing their muscles. The best approach seemed to be just talking and listening to her, preferably in the hot tub. As the week off.

When the truth was revealed, the guys dropped Stormy and decided to play it safe. They spent the rest of their time mending friendships, listening to Bobby Gage in the pub, and soaking in the hot tubs. The girls, on the other hand, thought Steve was quite cute without his costume, and decided to pick up where the guys left off.

continued so did the rivalry and jealousy. Towards the end of the week, guys who were once friends refused to speak to one another.

While all this was going on, the five women in the group watched with amusement. The girls thought that Stormy was too good to be true, and they were right. After a little snooping on their parts, the truth was discovered. The guys "Blonde Goddess" was none other than Steve Storms, a female impersonator who was practicing his performing while on vacation.

Michael Jackson To Play SSU

By Susan Harris, Staff Writer

Yes, music fans, he's coming to Salisbury. Live, in Mags Gym, the one, the only, the legendary Michael Jackson.

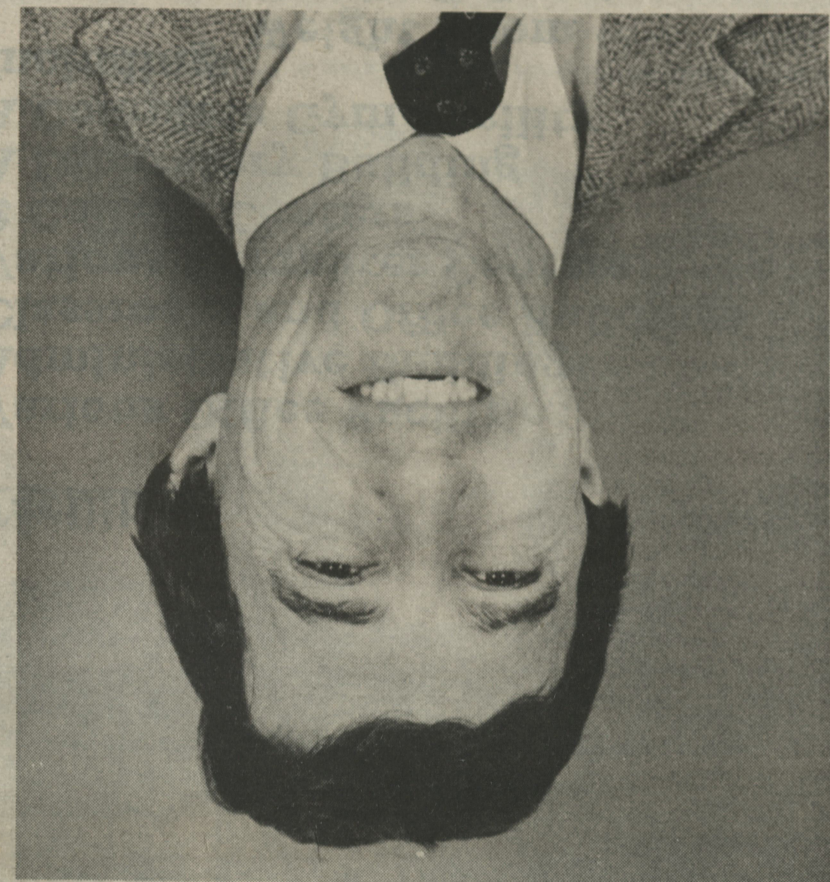

Friday night, April 22nd at 8:00 p.m. the "bad" man himself will be performing to celebrate Salisbury State College's name status change to Salisbury State University.

"We wrote to all sorts of speakers and go to college," the source commented. "Michael will be performing favorites from his 'Bad', 'Thriller' and 'Off the Wall' albums as well as a few selections from his Jackson's days. During his visit Michael plans to have a campus tour, taste the delectable food of the dining hall during a celebration banquet, go to Ocean City, and catch up with his old friend Frank Perdue.

Tickets go on sale tomorrow at the information desk inside the front of Mags. The tickets are on a first-come first-serve basis and are free.

4/2, 4:45 p.m. 30 stolen street signs found in President's home. Administrative hearing pending. Bellavance. Value $.39

4/5, President's daughter kidnapped. Recovered 3rd Floor Pocomoke. Slight damage was reported.

Lyer Wins Press Award

by I. Dunno

To the surprise of the Lyer Staff and Salisbury Steak College in general, The Lyer Newsmagazine was awarded the Associated Press award for best American collegiate newspaper. Most surprised by the news was Lyer Fascist Boob in Charge Jamie Hincey. "It must have been the attention we paid to detail in reporting," stated Hincey. News Editor, Head Propagandist, Beverly Welsh said the paper's success was the result of better grammatical Toilet paper?" Baker seemed

The Spelling Club Laura and Teresa wondered if any AP personnel could make the typesetting equipment print properly. Head Slave-driver, Holly "What

The reason for the installation of the coops lies in the original purpose for the founding of the school was to develop a unique system for handling Holloway's North Wing. "We have developed a unique system for handling poultry odor," explained Mescon. "The system includes small jets, that spray use, onto the chickens. An infrared light beam tracks the birds, and the jets follow the bird around."

Mescon, having the chickens right next to classrooms will encourage students to consider entering the field of poultry management. "The students will enter the building and see chickens..."

Chickens will become an intricate part of the business student's academic life.

The installation of the coops and birds is not the only move the Perdue School has made. Mescon explained that the deodorizer will also be mixed with the chicken waste in the waste trough. The waste will then run down the trough and outside the building, where it will be used to fertilize the flowers surrounding the installation of the coops and Holloway Hall. The largest odor problem does not come from the birds themselves, but from chicken waste. Mescon explained that the deodorizer will also be mixed with the chicken waste in the waste trough. Spelling Complaints Unfounded

I'm sick and tired of people complaining about mistakes in the Flyer. Those complaints are unfounded and utterly ridiculous. The positive changes that have been made in the Flyer far outweigh little things like spelling errors. Spelling errors are merely tiny imperfections in an otherwise perfect publication. The Flyer has improved the journalistic content of the paper, and will strive to bring you better and better news in the future. Of course, we're taking proper measures to insure that spelling errors do not continue at the present levels. We plan to purchase a dictionary program for our typesetting system.

The Flyer has also added the American Campus section in order to inform students of national events that affect them. These opinion pages and opportunities for students to express their opinions on major campus issues.

Spelling Mistakes Appreciated

I really don't understand all the complaints about Flyer spelling. I happen to think the spelling "mistakes" are an enjoyable change from the normal, boring "correct" spelling of words. In fact, careful observation of the Flyer will reveal that the "misspelled" words are actually carefully placed alternative spellings of words which we have all become far too familiar. For example, until, previously spelled u-n-t-i-l is a word that we all know and love. However, the Flyer's spelling of the word (with the extra l) caught my attention immediately and made the article much more interesting.

It has come to my attention that I am not the only student who feels this way. Other students, including a great number of English majors agree that misspellings make writing more interesting and fun to read. The English department at SSC

Perdue School to Add Chicken Coops	6

The Lyer Newsmagazine is published twice an hour by Oliver North for the purpose of informing Ronald Reagan about various communist ongoings. The Lyer business and editorial offices are located in Rooms 1004-1179, the Kremlin, Moscow, U.S.S.R. The Lyer is represented nationally by the U.S. Marine Corp.

The Lyer welcomes letter to the editor. Letters must be signed and writers can expect to be interrogated, tortured, and killed (killing upon request only). Commentaries and Letters to the Editor reflect the opinions of the United Salisbury Socialist Republic, and not those of the person who originally wrote them. The Lyer reserves the right to add fictitious information to letters so that they slander various Salisbury State administrative personnel.

Address correspondence to The Lyer SSC, Salisbury, MD. Phone 749-9450.
